I've been waiting for a while
For some sort of supernatural sign.
An intervention so divine, yo Gabriel, why won't you blow my mind?
There's gotta...
Be more to life than this.

Oh wherefore art thou destiny?
You got me down here dyin' on my knees.
Delusions of grandeur disease means fitting in would be the death of me.

Running out of years I'm in the twilight of my youth.
I'mma live my life like I've got everything to lose.
Hold my hands up high and cry, "Oh I have had enough."
I ain't waiting for a sign it's time; to fuck shit up.
